Katherine is an experienced litigator who brings a practical, results-oriented approach to complex commercial and class action litigation across a range of industries and legal issues.

Katherine is a partner in our Litigation & Dispute Resolution Group and a member of the firm's national Class Actions, Retail & Consumer Markets, and Cyber/Data groups. Her practice focuses on complex commercial and class action litigation.

Katherine is a versatile litigator who has acted in disputes across a range of legal issues, including product liability, negligence, consumer protection, employment, contract, procurement, privacy and fraud claims. Her clients operate in diverse industries, including retail, manufacturing, consumer products, cosmetics, technology and electronics, gig economy, energy, forestry, food and beverage, and agribusiness.

Katherine prides herself on helping clients strategically and efficiently navigate disputes and manage legal risk. She is licensed to practise in British Columbia and Ontario, and has appeared as counsel before all levels of court in both provinces and before the Supreme Court of Canada. Katherine regularly defends clients in multi-jurisdictional and cross-border class proceedings and has a proven track record of developing and executing litigation strategies to achieve clients' legal and business goals. In 2023, Katherine was recognized as a Benchmark Canada Litigation "Future Star" and on Benchmark Canada's Litigation "40 & Under" list.

Katherine also helps clients respond to cybersecurity incidents and has been approved as a breach coach by insurers, and advises clients operating in certain regulated industries on their regulatory obligations and dealings with regulators.

Katherine writes and speaks frequently about class actions, litigation and cybersecurity. She is a contributing author to Defending Class Actions in Canada: A Guide for Defendants published by LexisNexis, past Co-Chair and Executive Member of the Canada Bar Association British Columbia Branch Class Action Section from 2019-2023, Co-Chief Editor of McCarthy Tétrault's Canadian Class Actions Monitor blog, and a past guest lecturer at
