A fierce and pragmatic advocate, Christine relies on her extensive courtroom experience to help clients resolve their most complex challenges.

Christine Wadsworth is a partner in our Litigation group in Toronto. She maintains a broad litigation practice with an emphasis on commercial litigation, professional liability, internal investigations and white collar defence. Christine acts as counsel for professional accounting firms and is one of the leaders of McCarthy's national accounting firm initiative.

Christine has served as lead counsel at both the trial and appellate level. She has tried cases before judges, juries and arbitrators. She has appeared before all levels of court in Ontario, including numerous appearances before the Commercial List in Toronto and the Ontario Court of Appeal. She has also appeared before multiple administrative tribunals. No matter what forum, Christine weaves each piece of evidence into a compelling narrative to achieve results for clients. When disputes are best resolved outside of the courtroom, Christine applies these same skills to negotiations with opposing counsel.

Christine is consistently recognized as a leading lawyer in her areas of practice, including being named a Lexpert Rising Star – Canada's Leading Lawyers Under 40 and a Precedent Setter by Precedent Magazine. She is ranked in the Canadian Legal Lexpert Directory in the areas of Corporate Commercial Litigation and Professional Liability.

Christine's commercial litigation experience includes:

- Representing The Toronto-Dominion Bank at trial and on appeal in a $5.5 billion action arising from the collapse of Stanford International Bank (McDonald and Dickson v. TD Bank, 2021 ONSC 3872, aff'd 2022 ONCA 788, leave to appeal denied)
- Acting for financial institutions at the motion, trial and appellate level
- Representing companies and individuals in proceedings on the Commercial List

- Representing a large construction company in confidential arbitration proceedings for breach of contract claims
- Representing companies in class actions, including a securities class action

Christine's professional liability experience includes:

- Representing professional accounting firms in auditors' liability cases
- Representing the defendants at trial and on appeal in a case which confirmed that "but for" causation is required to establish liability for breach of fiduciary duty (Stirrett v. Cheema, 2020 ONCA 288, leave to appeal denied). The decision was cited by the Supreme Court of Canada in Southwind v. Canada, 2021 SCC 28.
- Defending physicians in professional liability cases tried by both judges and juries
- Representing physicians in disputes with patients' family members over end-of-life treatment, including in the leading Canadian case on the definition of death, which confirmed that the medical and legal definition of death includes death by neurological criteria (McKitty v. Hayani, 2019 ONCA 805)
- Prosecutor for the Ontario College of Teachers' Discipline Committee and Fitness to Practise Committee

Christine's criminal and investigations experience includes:

- Defending clients in criminal proceedings at the trial and appellate level
- Counsel on an internal investigation for a public company

Christine serves as co-director of McCarthy Tétrault's pro bono criminal defence program, which is a partnership with the University of Toronto's community legal clinic Downtown Legal Services. This program provides pro bono representation on criminal trials and appeals. Christine has also acted as pro bono counsel to the British Columbia Civil Liberties Association.

A dedicated mentor and teacher, Christine brings her passion for storytelling to both the courtroom and the classroom.
