

Doura Dagher

E-Discovery Associate

Toronto

ddagher@mt3.ca

t. +1 416-601-7891

Doura Dagher is an e-Discovery lawyer in our Toronto office.

Doura has extensive experience at each stage of the e-Discovery process, including managing, and providing guidance and quality control on large-scale, complex review projects. She has worked for various private sector clients on high-profile civil litigation files, class actions and Competition Bureau supplementary information requests for large M&A transactions, as well as Freedom of Information requests and investigatory matters.

Doura is a member of the Ontario Bar Association and the Advocates' Society. She received her LLB from Osgoode Hall Law School in 2003 and was called to the Ontario Bar in 2004. Before specializing in e-Discovery, Doura worked in civil litigation in Toronto.

In her free time, Doura enjoys volunteering, travelling, and spending time with her family. .

PRESENTATIONS AND PUBLICATIONS:

September 30, 2022, Contributor, E-Discovery and Information Governance in Canada, 4th edition, LexisNexis Canada

Recent Insights

- The Hefty "Costs" Of Not Following e-Discovery Best Practices - Part 1
August 04, 2022
- AI and its Role in the Anne Frank Cold Case
March 14, 2022