Nicole Naglie is an associate in the firm's Labour & Employment Group in Toronto. She advises and represents management regarding a variety of matters including employment standards, occupational health and safety, workers' compensation, wrongful dismissals, labour board proceedings, grievances, human rights and labour arbitrations.

Nicole received her Juris Doctor from Queen's University (2019), where she was an active member of numerous student initiatives. Notably, Nicole served as a case worker for the Queen's Prison Law Clinic and Pro Bono Students Canada, advocating for client's rights. Nicole was the recipient of the Queen's Law Prize in Labour Law and the Stringer, Brisbin, Humphrey Prize in Labour Law.

Nicole obtained her Honours BA in History and Political Science from Western University.

Nicole was called to the Ontario Bar in 2020, and she is a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada and the Canadian Bar Association.
