Municipal Planning

Matt Schuman is a partner in the Municipal Law Group in Toronto. His practice focuses on municipal law and land use planning.

Matt provides advice on land use planning approval processes and appeals. His experience also includes advising elected and appointed local government officials and municipal staff on decision-making, transparency, and accountability. He appears before the Local Planning Appeal Tribunal (formerly the Ontario Municipal Board), the Toronto Local Appeal Body, and the Divisional Court.

Matt has taught planning law for the University of Toronto's Master's in Planning Program, presented at the Council on Government Ethics Laws (COGEL), and published in the Osgoode Hall Law Journal and the Southern California Review of Law and Social Justice.

Matt obtained his B.A. in English (Distinction and Honours) from the University of California, Berkeley, in 2004. He received his J.D. from the University of Southern California in 2009. Matt was called to the California Bar in 2009 and the Ontario Bar in 2014. He is a member of the Law Society of Ontario and the California Bar Association.
