Myriane is trusted by clients to handle their most sensitive matters and to find solutions.

With over 20 years of experience, Myriane's labour and employment practice, in English and French, services clients of all sizes and industries on their most important human resources, labour relations and workforce planning matters. She provides strategic counsel and pragmatic business solutions to clients, assisting them with complex terminations, disability and performance management, management and investigation of violence and harassment claims, and collective bargaining negotiations. Understanding the law and the operational realities of clients' workplaces, Myriane advises on the development and implementation of employment and corporate policies and practices across multiple Canadian jurisdictions, leveraging the Firm's strong national presence.

She acts on behalf of numerous companies before civil and administrative law courts, including, but not limited to, the Administrative Labour Tribunal, the Canada Industrial Relations Board, the Québec Superior Court and the Québec Court of Appeal.

She regularly provides educational training for managers and employees.

Before joining McCarthy Tétrault, Myriane practiced at three national firms. As an industry thought leader, Myriane is regularly invited as a lecturer. She also taught labour and employment law at the Montreal Bar School.

She is actively involved in the community sitting on the board of La Compagnie Jean Duceppe. She is a member of the Canadian Bar Association, American Bar Association and Canadian Association of Counsel to Employers.

Some of her recent experience includes:

- Lead Counsel for a major global placement agency with respect to a variety of legal matters across Canada
