

Abigaël Singer graduated from Université de Montréal. During her studies, Abigaël clerked for a judge at the Superior Court. Prior to pursuing her studies in law, she worked as a paralegal at another national law firm and during her studies in the legal department of an international company in the aerospace industry. Abigaël was Co-President of the AEJD (Jewish Law Students' Association) of University of Montreal. She has helped organize workshops for the professional development of students. Abigaël is Co-President of the Weizmann League where she helps organize philanthropic events with scientists for the Weizmann institute to raise awareness about the innovations and scientific developments from the Institute.

Abigaël Singer

Articling Student

Montréal

Law School

Université de Montréal

In her free time, Abigaël loves to read, spend time with friends and family. She is also passionate about science and technology.

Recent Insights

- Bill 95: Quebec's Digitization Law Unpacked

July 16, 2021