Tax Planning

Stephanie is a partner in McCarthy Tétrault's National Tax Group and is based in the firm's Toronto office. Her practice focuses on corporate tax planning, including advising on the tax aspects of cross-border and domestic M&A and corporate reorganizations, structuring Canadian operations and investments, and international tax issues.

Stephanie is known for providing clients with novel solutions to their most difficult issues. With deep technical expertise and experience advising multinational enterprises on their most complex Canadian tax matters, Stephanie's experience crosses many industries, including technology, media and telecommunications, energy, mining and infrastructure, and consumer goods and retail.

Stephanie is a thought leader in the tax profession, frequently presenting and authoring articles on changes to the tax landscape and what business leaders can do to navigate them. Most recently, Stephanie presented on Canadian tax law changes impacting multinational enterprises to the Tax Executives Institute (Houston Chapter), and co-authored the 2021 Chambers and Partners – Transfer Pricing Practice Guide. She is also an active participant in the tax community, including as a member of the Steering Committee for the Canadian Tax Foundation's Young Practitioners' Group (Toronto Chapter).

Stephanie received her JD from the University of Toronto, and an LLM in Taxation Law from Osgoode Hall Law School. Stephanie has also completed CPA Canada's In-Depth Tax Program.
