Will develops and executes strategies to advance his clients' interests and deliver solutions tailored to his clients' priorities. Will utilizes a diverse set of litigation and other tools to attain results.

Will maintains a broad litigation and advisory practice, with a particular focus on privacy & defamation law, complex commercial disputes, securities, and professional negligence.

- Privacy & Defamation – Will's work in privacy and information encompasses privacy litigation, privacy regulatory work, and advice. His defamation work includes litigation, pre-litigation advocacy and advice for plaintiffs and defendants. His defamation clients have included corporations, media entities, journalists, politicians, and other individuals. Will has a particular expertise in bringing and defending anti-SLAPP motions. He has represented media companies in respect of applications for production orders and publication bans in criminal proceedings.

Will's advocacy in respect of reputational interests extends to political law and the political realm, where he has represented and advised high-profile political leaders on issues including ethical compliance and conflicts of interest (including before the Ethics Commissioner of Canada), and social media disputes.

- Complex commercial – Will has a broad commercial litigation practice that includes contractual disputes, economic torts, and class actions.
- Securities – Will's securities litigation practice includes securities litigation and class actions, internal investigations, regulatory, corporate litigation, shareholder disputes, and private equity.
- Professional negligence – Will has extensive experience assisting clients with professional liability claims. Will acts for physicians on behalf of the Canadian Medical Protective Association (CMPA), providing advice and representation at civil trials, appeals, and administrative proceedings. Will has also acted for plaintiffs in professional negligence proceedings, including in a significant group claim against an insurance brokerage.

Will represents a diverse set of clients including tech companies, public issuers, asset managers and investment firms, high-profile political figures, municipalities, media entities, and professionals. Will understands that the specific priorities and broader interests of his clients vary, and he provides services and solutions crafted for each client's unique needs.

Will has represented clients before the Ontario Court of Appeal, Ontario Superior Court of Justice, Federal Court, Ontario Securities
